Safeguarding – Prevent

This section is part of our commitment to keeping Learners safe. Since the 'Education and Inspections Act 2006' educational organisations have a duty to promote community cohesion. Over the last few years, global events have led to a growth of extremist viewpoints, including advocacy of violent extremism.

A2L has an important part to play in educating young people about extremism and recognising when customers/students start to become radicalised. In March 2015, new statutory duties were placed on educational establishments by the Counter Terrorism and Security Act (2015) which means they must work to prevent Learners/students being drawn into extremism.

Safeguarding learners from all risks of harm is an important part of A2L's work and protecting them from extremism is one aspect of that.

Ethos

At A2L we ensure that through our vision, values, rules, diverse curriculum and teaching we promote acceptance and respect for all cultures, faiths and lifestyles. The senior management also ensures that this ethos is reflected and implemented effectively in A2L policy and practice and that there are effective risk assessments in place to safeguard and promote students' welfare.

We have a duty to prepare our students for life in modern Britain and to keep them safe.

Learners who attend our organisation have the right to learn in safety. We do not tolerate bullying of any kind and will challenge derogatory language and behaviour towards others.

Statutory Duties

The duty to prevent Learners and young people being radicalised is set out in the following documents.

- Counter Terrorism and Security Act (2015)
- Keeping Learners Safe in Education (updated 2023)
- Prevent Duty Guidance (updated 2023)
- Working Together to Safeguard Learners (updated 2022)

Definitions

Extremism is defined in the 2011 Prevent strategy as vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. We also include in our definition of extremism calls for the death of members of our armed forces, whether in this country or overseas.

Radicalisation refers to the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and extremist ideologies associated with terrorist groups.

British Values are democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.

Internet Safety

The internet provides learners and young people with access to a wide-range of content, some of which is harmful. Extremists use the internet, including social media, to share their messages. The filtering systems used in our IT equipment blocks inappropriate content, including extremist content.

We also filter out social media, such as Facebook. Searches and web addresses are monitored and the ICT technicians will alert senior staff where there are concerns and prevent further access when new sites that are unblocked are found.

Where staff, learners or visitors find unblocked extremist content they must report it to a senior member of staff.

We are aware that learners and young people have access to unfiltered internet when using their mobile phones and staff are alert to the need for vigilance when learners are using their phones.

Learners and staff know how to report internet content that is inappropriate or of concern.

Whistleblowing

To provide both staff and learners with a confidential route to report areas of concern A2L have in place a Whistleblowing policy. There is a confidential phone number to use, with procedures in place to ensure any concerns are dealt with equitably and in a suitable timeframe.

Staff will be given training to help them understand the issues of radicalisation, are able to recognise the signs of vulnerability or radicalisation and know how to refer their concerns. This information also forms part of induction safeguarding training. Staff are updated as necessary in weekly safeguarding briefings.
